Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

This time of year is joyous, full of parties, gift giving, visiting with family and friends, and serious contemplation. It is a time that is often so full that we lose our way; too many things to do. For some it can be a time of depression as they remember better times and people who are no longer in their lives. For others, economic reversals have made gift giving a struggle.

Having said all this, I am reminded of what this celebration is all about. God promised the world He would send a Savior. That Savior is what this season is all about. It is too easy for us to lose sight of the reason we celebrate. It is about what God has done for us.

Refocusing can bring our joy back. Reprioritizing can help us to regain our sanity. Remembering well can help us to celebrate what this season is all about. Remember well with me. Will you?
